Slick City Action Park Bringing High-Speed Thrills to Springdale, Ohio This October

Cincinnati's First Slick City to Deliver Thrills with Several Dry Slides, Air Courts and All-Ages Entertainment

SPRINGDALE, OHIO – Slick City Action Park, the world's first indoor dry-slide and air court park designed for all ages, will open its newest Ohio location in Springdale this October. Located at 11805 Commons, the park marks Slick City's second Ohio location and the first franchisee-owned park in the state. It follows the successful debut of the brand's corporate-owned park in North Columbus and underscores Slick City's rapid national growth.

Franchise owners James Schregardus, Mike Ellis, and Mark Abbett bring a strong mix of entrepreneurial drive and business expertise to the venture. The three cousins, founders of G5 Entertainment, have successfully launched and managed companies spanning industries from technology to retail. Schregardus was first inspired after visiting a Slick City with his son, quickly recognizing the park's potential for the Cincinnati market. United by his vision, the team is committed to bringing innovative, family-focused entertainment to Springdale, with plans already underway for three additional locations.

"After visiting a Slick City location with our kids, we immediately knew it was something we wanted to bring to the Cincinnati area," said James Schregardus, co-owner of Slick City Springdale. "We saw how much fun the entire family could have—from toddlers to teens to parents—and we knew this park would be a unique, year-round destination for the community."

The new 39,000-square-foot venue will feature Slick City's thrilling, patented dry slides—including fan favorites like Mega Launch, Fast Lane, Avalanche, and more. Additional slides will be added over the next few weeks, giving guests even more to enjoy. Younger guests can explore a dedicated soft play area and the Web Crawler, while older guests can test their skills on the air courts with basketball and dodgeball. Guests can also refuel at the on-site café, serving fresh pizza, snacks, and drinks. The park will later include spacious event areas as well, making it an ideal venue for birthday parties, group outings, and corporate events.

Founded in 2021, Slick City is headquartered in St. Louis and Nashville and opened its first location in Denver, CO in early 2022. Since then, Slick City has introduced the nation to a first-of-its-kind entertainment experience. Research and development are at the core of Slick City, driven by CEO and founder Bron Launsby alongside co-founder Gary Schmidt, who also founded Slick Slide, a revolutionary slide manufacturing company. Slick Slide Co. pioneered the exhilarating attractions that define the parks, delivering an unmatched sensation of speed and elevation—similar to a waterslide but without water and unlike anything else on the market.

About Slick City Action Park

Founded in 2021 by Bron Launsby and Gary Schmit, Slick City's mission is to combine proprietary "We've gotta do that!" attractions with an exceptional guest experience that inspires, engages, and entertains thrill seekers of all ages. As the world's first indoor slide park, Slick City offers a truly one-of-a-kind experience designed for everyone. Unlike other brands in the family entertainment industry, Slick City is built to bring all generations together. Through its partnership with Slick Slide, the brand is constantly innovating—regularly unveiling new slides and attractions while keeping all innovation processes in-house. To date, 63 patents and patent applications have been filed for Slick City's proprietary slides and slide mats, with more on the way. With more than 95 locations signed, under construction, or open nationwide, Slick City is rapidly expanding and building momentum. The company is seeking franchise partners with experience in business management, family entertainment, or franchising who are ready to be part of the movement.
